

Most regions would gain if farm assistance were allocated according to the value of farm production instead of production history for subsidized crops

Source: Environmental Working Group. Compiled from USDA data and U.S. Census of Agriculture 1997.